Volume Contents

Editorial 1

A description of stressors and coping strategies among parents of critically ill children – a preliminary study 4
Franco A. Carnevale

Humanity in Intensive Care 12
Carol Ball

Acute meningococcaemia: a case study 17
Attracta Fiorentini

Needs of family members of critically ill patients – A Northern Ireland perspective 25
Eleanor Hayes

Autologous blood transfusion (ABT). A study of the clinical applications and a literature review 30
Victoria E. Zugic

Educational aspects of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training 38
Stephen J. Cavanagh

Communication between nurses and post-anaesthetic patients 45
Jane Mallett

BOOK REVIEWS 54

NOTICES 56

Editorial 57

Psychological and social support systems in intensive and critical care 59
Yueh-chih Chen

Alternating-pressure mattresses for the prevention of decubitus ulcers: a study of healthy subjects and patients 67
Klaus-Dieter Neander and Ralf Birkenfeld

Use of patient controlled analgesia in postoperative cardiac surgical patients – a survey of ward staff attitudes 74
Hilary A. Aitken and Gavin N. C. Kenny

High permeability pulmonary oedema: pathophysiology and mechanisms of injury 79
Barbara S. White and Sharon L. Roberts

Responsibility and accountability in intensive care nursing 92
Helena Leino Kilpi

The role of the nurse in the transport of critically ill people 96
Caroline J. Hamilton

Orem's self-care model: is it relevant to patients in intensive care? 100
Christine J. Jacobs

Mind that bolus! 104
Shyam V. S. Rithalia

PRODUCT NEWS 106

BOOK REVIEWS 107

NOTICES 108

Editorial 109

Blood pressure measurement: an evaluation of direct and indirect methods 111
M.C. Asiain, Y. Montes, M.L. Costa-Ramos, P. Imizcoz

The dilemmas of introducing routine HIV testing into the intensive care unit 118
Sian E. Jones

Nursing for a patient requiring long-term care in an intensive care unit (ICU) 124
Takako Suzuki, Fumi Kawamura

The use of a multidisciplinary group meeting for families of critically ill trauma patients 129
M. Boettcher, W.R. Schiller

Use of an implantable left ventricular assist device for irreversible ventricular fibrillation secondary to massive myocardial infarction – a case study 138
Ann M. McGinley, Ann S. Matthews, T.R. Graham

High technology and humanity for intensive care 150
Pat Ashworth

BOOK REVIEWS 161

PRODUCT NEWS 163

Editorial 165

Israeli nurses in intensive cardiac care units (ICCUS): stress, satisfaction and coping 167
M. Ehrenfeld

Training nurses for intensive care 172
Belinda L. Atkinson

Problems in the decision making process: a review 179
David Evans

Dealing with bereavement in critical care 185
Karen Eastham

A chaplain's personal view of intensive care 192
James Thompson

Calculating haemodynamic parameters and interpreting arterial blood gas samples using a pocket computer 196
Wayne P. Large

Policy and procedure manual: keeping a high quality manual 200
Linda M. Sulzbach and Dawn A. Stivale

Malnourishment in intensive care units, as high as 50%: are nurses doing enough to change this? 205
Anne Horwood

Abstract – The child in the intensive care unit: combining humanity with technology 209
Belinda L. Atkinson

BOOK REVIEWS 211

NOTICES 214

SUBJECT INDEX 215

AUTHOR INDEX 217